Judges' comments:

As the results show, an outstanding class of sparklings, with a tremendous range of style, from pure and restrained to great complexity. Several wines suffered from cork issues and may have been unlucky, but the rule here (and in many wine shows) is that there are no second bottles called.

Judges' comments:

The anticipation of the judges of a lovely class of wines was rudely shattered. The veterans were of the view that this was the worst class of current year rieslings they could remember. Overripe, flabby, phenolic faults abounded. Gold was a complete contrast, very delicate, and arriving at gold points only after prolonged consideration; it was its delicacy that got it over the line.

While many awards, the class was slightly disappointing in the absence of clear-cut Golds. Much discussion on the top two wines. Suprising development for the age.

AWARDS BY CLASS

3	Ése Sauvignon Blanc 2008	Bronze
10	Notley Gorge Sauvignon Blanc 2008	Bronze

30	Nocton Park Sauvignon Blanc 2007	Bronze

Summary: Number of wines: 30 Number of medals: 8 Percent medalled: 27%

Judges' comments:

Tasmania continues to struggle with Sauvignon Blanc; why should it be so? Some were acidic versions of Pinot Gris

Class 9 : Sauvignon blanc – oaked – 2008 vintage and older

Entry N°	Wine	Award
3	Clemens Hill Sauvignon Blanc 2008	Bronze
4	Panorama Estate Sauvignon Blanc 2008	Bronze

Summary: Number of wines: 7 Number of medals: 2 Percent medalled: 29%

It would seem there is little point in using oak (new, old or very old) with Tasmanian Sauvignon Blanc.

AWARDS BY CLASS

Class 10 : Chardonnay – non-oaked – 2008 vintage and older

Entry N°	Wine	Award
3	Fluted Cape Chardonnay 2008	Bronze

16	Bishop's Vineyard Chardonnay 2006	Gold

Summary: Number of wines: 16 Number of medals: 7 Percent medalled: 44%

Judges' comments:

Mainland unoaked chardonnay makers should take a long hard look at this class, and decide whether they might be better off with other varieties. In most instances, sweetness has been balanced by acidity.

Entry N°	Wine	Award
1	Sharman Chardonnay 2008	Gold

Summary: Number of wines: 12 Number of medals: 7 Percent medalled: 58%

An exacting class to judge, with considerable divergence of opinions at the outset, ultimately resolved amicably after lengthy discussions (and retastings). Tasmania remains at the forefront of the development of this style.

Some lovely old wines; most from the pre-screw-cap era which made them even more meritorious.
